Goethe-Zertifikat

What is the difference between the German A level and the Goethe-Zertifikat B1?

The Goethe-Zertifikat takes the students up to level B1 on the European Common Framework for languages. This is comparable to an AS level here in the UK which in turn is equivalent to half an A level. Moreover the Goethe-Zertifikat course does not contain the study of a film or a piece of literature. The level in linguistic proficiency reached after finishing the German A level is higher. It is considered to be around the B2/C1 level on the European Common framework for Languages.
